

Hello Middle School Families,

We all know, and research supports, that daily reading is one of the BEST ways to improve students' overall abilities in language. Summer is the perfect time for students to engage in daily reading they personally find interesting.

Please see the guidelines for summer reading below:

1. There are NO REQUIRED novels to read or assignments to complete. This will not be graded.
2. Every student should read a minimum of 60 minutes per week. This reading can take place in any format (newspaper, magazine, internet blog, novel, etc.). Find something you love to read!
3. Submit your reading minutes via Google Form (link below) each week. If you miss submitting your minutes one week, you may create an extra submission the next week for them. If you'd like to keep track on paper and submit them all at one time, that is fine too.
4. Any student who completes 60 minutes each week will earn an "Out-of-Uniform" pass in the fall.
5. The top five minute earners will earn a surprise incentive upon returning in August.
6. For suggested middle school novels, please visit the school website at:

My heart behind this is to remove the pressure of summer assignments and allow our students to find something they LOVE to read. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Happy Reading!
